

LIVE & LEARN

with CELT

The 'Live & Learn' series is a programme of workshops created by the Learning Development team in CELT. It's designed to help you with the key academic skills needed for success at university. The sessions are relaxed and informal and this year they will be delivered remotely on Microsoft Teams.

An introduction to narrated PowerPoints 3pm Thursday 4 February

Key skill: producing PowerPoint presentations

This session delivered by Digital Learning will provide you with all of the tools you need to produce narrated PowerPoints.

Let's get critical

3pm Thursday 11 February

Key skill: critical thinking

Your tutors might keep telling you to think critically – but what does this mean and, more importantly, how do you do it? Come along if you want to find out!

Using the library: Boost your grade by finding more resources

3pm Thursday 18 February

Key skill: literature searching

This session will introduce you to skills needed for effective literature searching at BGU library. The session will cover advanced searching using WorldCat and subject specific databases, as well as newer library features such as BrowZine and LibKey Nomad.

Crack the case study

3pm Thursday 25 February

Key skill: writing reports & case studies

Reports and case studies require specific ways of writing – but how do you produce them? Come along to find out!

Elevate your essay writing

3pm Thursday 4 March

Key skill: essay writing

How do you go about producing a high-quality essay? Sign up if you'd like to find out about strategies for taking your writing to the next level.

Get referencing right

3pm Thursday 11 March

Key skill: APA 7th referencing

Nobody enjoys referencing – but it's a necessary part of writing assignments. If you struggle with getting your sources straight, we can help you get on the right track.

Proofread like a professional

3pm Thursday 18 March

Key skill: editing & proofreading

Editing and proofreading your own work can be difficult. There aren't any shortcuts, but there are some ways to make your job easier – pop along if you'd like to learn how!

Move forward with feedback

3pm Thursday 25 March

Key skill: using feedback

How can you move forward in your academic writing? Learn how to use the feedback you've been given to set targets and develop new strategies.

To sign up or for more information, please email:
learningdevelopment@bishopg.ac.uk